Significant events during the academic year:

- Among the program proposals that we approved this year was the very first interdisciplinary undergraduate certificate program in Digital Studies. C&C representation was part of the committee that laid the groundwork for this and other undergraduate certificates.
- We transitioned over from the old APPs proposal system for course and program proposals to the new Courseleaf Information Management (CIM, aka “new APPs”) system.
- With a larger number of committee members, the C&C Committee created subcommittees to update our own internal documents and to review policies in areas related to distributed learning and course concurrences.
- Jessica McKie, in addition to her duties as secretary of the Staff Senate, added staff support to the committee's work during the year.

Finally, as chair, I would like to extend my thanks to all the committee members for their hard work throughout the year, especially to Sharon Gumina and Brian Habing for being willing to step up as co-chairs for the coming academic year. I also thank the ex-officio members of the committee who lent their time and expertise to our work. We would not have been able to do our job without their counsel.
