Synopsis:

Told over a series of late-night hangouts, The Grown Ups follows five young adult camp counselors as they navigate camper issues and the ever-changing world and camp around them as the world around them spins into crisis over a (possible) Dwayne Johnson Pineapple-lookalike. The play examines change and progress, protection of innocence, and political polarization as the counselors realize that they are the new “grown ups” and must not only make important decisions for their safety but their campers as well.
